Minister of Education

A MESSAGE FROM OUR MINISTER OF EDUCATION

It is a pleasure for me as Minister of Education to convey greetings and good wishes on behalf of the Government of Ontario to you, the graduates of the Windsor Teachers' College. During your course you will have received much excellent advice regarding the important work you are about to undertake, and it remains for me only to wish you every success in your chosen career. To be successful you must be happy in your work, and I hope that you will find the happiness that comes from the consciousness of work well done and above all from knowledge that you have helped your pupils to develop correct habits, worthy interests and high ideals which in years to come will make this world a better place.

My best wishes go with you as you take up your new duties in September.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Mr. R.S. Devereux

MESSAGE TO THE GRADUATING CLASS OF 1964

You have by now made long strides toward the goal you set when you chose teaching as your profession. Thus you may recall the first days at the College, registration, the demonstration lessons, and your first attempts in the classroom, as part of the far-distant past.

No doubt you still encounter some comments from your friends that teaching is an "easy" profession with short hours and long holidays. These remarks must bring a wry smile as you lift your eyes after long hours of study, marking papers, or the detailed planning of your lessons.

From your experiences, however, I hope you have discovered for yourself the age-old secret of happiness; that one loves life most when challenged to use his full capacity at a work he can do and which he knows is worth doing. One criterion of a profession is that it demands much more than a clock-watcher who works only for a limited number of hours. The hours of the day will seem far too short to do all that you wish to accomplish.

You will find that the satisfaction that comes as you strive to reach your potential cannot be measured in simple dollars and cents. You have been given the golden opportunity to make your influence felt in generations yet unborn. This is a profound thought. As you encounter discouragements and set-backs, may you receive the inner resources to meet them in such a way that they will be transformed into triumphs rather than defeats. In this way problems become challenges.

Our staff will watch with interest and a measure of pride as you go to make your contribution to the solution of the problems that face this changing, troubled world.

"To help the young soul, to add energy, inspire hope, and to blow the coals into a useful flame; to redeem defeat by new thought and firm action, this, though not easy, is the work of divine men."

Emerson

My best wishes to each of you.

VICE-PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Mr. R.L. Fritz

"It is not growing like a tree
In bulk, doth make man better be;"
- Ben Jonson

Your year at Windsor Teachers' College has come and gone leaving each of you a year older and wiser. During the year, very little physical growth has occurred, but in the words of the poet, it is not physical growth that makes man better. As you were preparing to take your place in your chosen profession, we, of the staff, have witnessed, with considerable interest and pride, your professional growth.

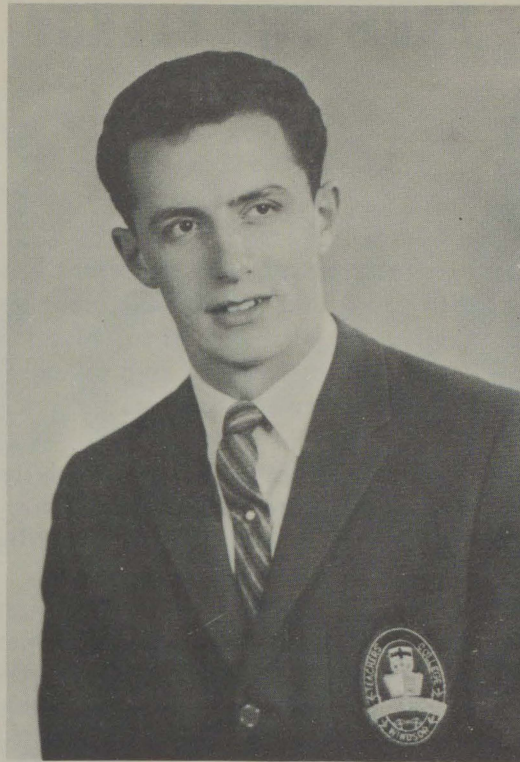

The measuring of physical growth is relatively simple, requiring but the yardstick and the scales. Your professional growth is much more difficult to assess. Performance in the practice classrooms, level of proficiency in the work of the College classes, and your attitude toward life and living are but three aspects of that growth.

Now that you are leaving to take your place as teachers, be assured that your success and continuing growth will be followed with genuine interest by myself and the staff; for, in the final analysis, we look upon your success as a mark of our own success in helping to prepare you for the job ahead.

The evidence of your growth during the past year leaves us confident of your success in the years ahead.

PRESIDENT'S

MESSAGE

Jack Redmile

"Two roads diverged in a yellow wood
And sorry I could not travel both.

I took the one less travelled by,
And that has made all the difference.

- Robert Frost -

This poem in my mind, exemplifies our present situation because we have chosen one of the many roads in life which is less travelled by, because it is somewhat of a challenge. Teaching, a highly ethical profession, is by no means a role for everyone, but in my opinion, I believe this year is going to produce some of the finest teachers ever to come out of Windsor Teachers' College.

This is an opportune time to thank all the wonderful people who have helped our committees make this a successful year, and I believe this has been a year of success.

To the teachers who are graduating this year - I wish you every success in your chosen profession, and to those who will graduate next year - I extend to you a wish of prosperity in your future endeavour.

FROM THE CLERGY

Rev. Father L.W. Paré
Bishop's Delegate

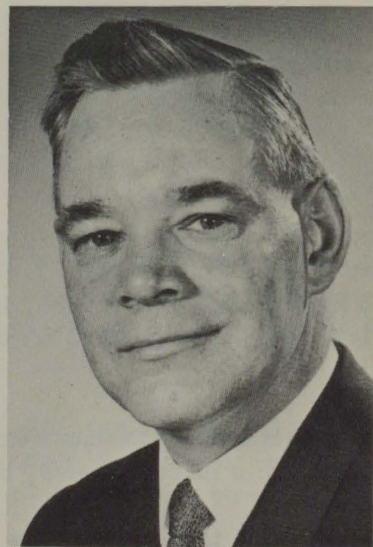

Teachers are very important in society for they deal directly with young and assist in the great task of their education. If the family, the basic unit of society, is to achieve its purposes fully, it will only be with the help of educators dedicated and competent in their particular vocation.

It will always be a great privilege to assist students who are preparing themselves to be educators and to fulfill the demanding requirements of their particular calling.

I wish to offer my sincere congratulations to those who have completed their studies. To those who will continue on for another year I wish to offer my humble prayers in support of their work and indeed any assistance which may be helpful in their preparation to be teachers in schools of this great Province.

The word "education" is derived from two Latin Words, e, meaning "out", plus ducere, "to lead," - to lead out. As teachers your role in society is the leading out of young pupils from ignorance into knowledge. But a good teacher is one who, while leading out others, is also continually being led out into new insights and understandings, through the guidance of Truth.

It is a privilege to add my congratulations to the graduating students, who by the diligence of hard work and self-discipline, are now accounted ready to accept the responsibility of teaching those who are the future hope of our nation and the world. May the Almighty God be gracious to each of you, supporting and strengthening you in your labours, that joy may be your abiding reward.

You are entering TEACHING during a period of a rapidly rising tide of professionalism.

I challenge you to join with your fellows in the effort to make TEACHING a truly great profession for the benefit of the children of ONTARIO.

Contact your professional organization if you have problems, and acquaint yourselves with the services available to all OPSMTF members.

I wish you well in your chosen profession, especially during these important beginning years.

In September, 1963, fourteen representatives were elected, one from each form, to administer student affairs.

This legislative body assembles two or three times a month to consult and to organize school activities.

Through the leadership of Mr. Jack Redmile as president and the expert supervision of Mr. Devereux, our council has been busily engaged in money raising enterprises as well as concerning itself with the standards of the school.

The council promoted and distributed college crests, Christmas cards and jewellery. A Dutch auction and a car washing project were also sponsored by the council. With the funds raised through these efforts, the council sponsored a banquet to honour all the graduating students of the school.

As is to be expected, our student council experienced a few adversities as well as triumphs. We are all very proud to have served the class of 63-64 at W.T.C.

YEARBOOK

Top Row. Mr. England, Mrs. Hewitt, B. Cayea, R. Landry, R. James, S. Jenkins, J. Samuel, S. Allen, K. Thorn, Mr. Laforet, Mr. Lennon
Bottom Row: G. Buratto, M. Pretty, E. Eves, J. Simpson, R. Cornelius, P. Hills, B. VanEvery

The members of the Yearbook staff are proud to present to you this second edition of the "Magister". The long hectic hours spent on this goal have been well worth the effort if, as you leaf through the pages of this book, we have been able to recall just one of your favourite memories from this important year in our lives.

The Yearbook staff will long recall the memories - some very amusing - of the rushing to meet deadlines, the two-minute lunch "hours" so that we could have extra meetings, the astonishment of the masters when we took candid shots of them during class in characteristic poses, the typing, planning layouts, checking articles, the "willing" volunteers to write editorials, and the complete set of one form's pictures being lost (temporarily!). Sometimes we will remember the hours of hard work; other times we will remember our enjoyment and satisfaction as we saw the Yearbook take form and progress.

We are sincerely thankful to Mr. Lennon, Mr. Laforet, Mr. England and Mrs. Hewitt for giving us their time and guidance. To those who helped from outside the committee we would also like to express our thanks.

We hope that you enjoy your Yearbook and that, as you turn the pages of this book in future years, you will find memories of Windsor Teachers' College.

"What about a retake?"

ART

The Art Club held its meetings, when possible, during the Interest period. Its purpose was mainly for skill enrichment. We did some sketching and special techniques. A trip to the Detroit Institute of Arts was scheduled and was enjoyed by those who were able to go along. In the nice weather we hope to be able to do some outdoor sketching. Although our group was small, and time somewhat limited, we were able to learn a bit more about Art and we did improve our skills to some degree.

LIBRARY

In this our very first year the Library Club has had its ups and downs. One of the problems, which will always be with us, is that of time, or rather the lack of it. Due to the pressure of assignments, classes, exams, and practice teaching, regular assistance in the library is difficult for our members. However, to those who have helped us so greatly, the librarian would like to express her most heart-felt thanks for their much-appreciated efforts.

CAMERA

CAMERA CLUB

Time was our biggest handicap but all members mastered the art of photographic operations. We were also actively engaged in taking candid shots around the College which included photos of all interest groups, girls' basketball team, inter-form teams and the masters. The Camera Club has had a very successful year laying the groundwork for future work. Members of the executive were: President, Dennis Arrand; Vice-President, Ken Bondy; Secretary-Treasurer, Dianne Shelley.

PRESS

PRESS CLUB

The purpose of the Windsor Teachers' College Press Club is to better inform both the students and the general public of the many and varied events that take place within the College.

The club is composed of a member from each of the various other clubs in the College. Each reports forthcoming events to the President. These are then arranged on a calendar of events and placed on the Main Bulletin Board. Any events of particular interest are written up in detail and submitted to the Windsor Star for publication.

HISTORY

The History Club is made up of a group of second year students who wanted to go more deeply into history. They looked at some topics in American history that were not dealt with in class. This led to a great deal of supplementary reading on the part of the members with reports being made to the group. Later in the year, they considered the nature of history itself and after a general view of historiography looked at works of a few key historians from Herodotus, the father of Greek history down to such modern historians as Arnold Toynbee. They all thought that history was just, "peachy keen."

REFEREEING

Windsor Teachers' College had a variety of intermural sports activities consisting of men's and women's volleyball and basketball. Our reliable referees had to govern these activities objectively with fairness to all. The referee is usually not appreciated during a game but his presence ensures a high level of competition. All refereeing was done on a voluntary basis but with the excellent organization of this group a referee was always present.

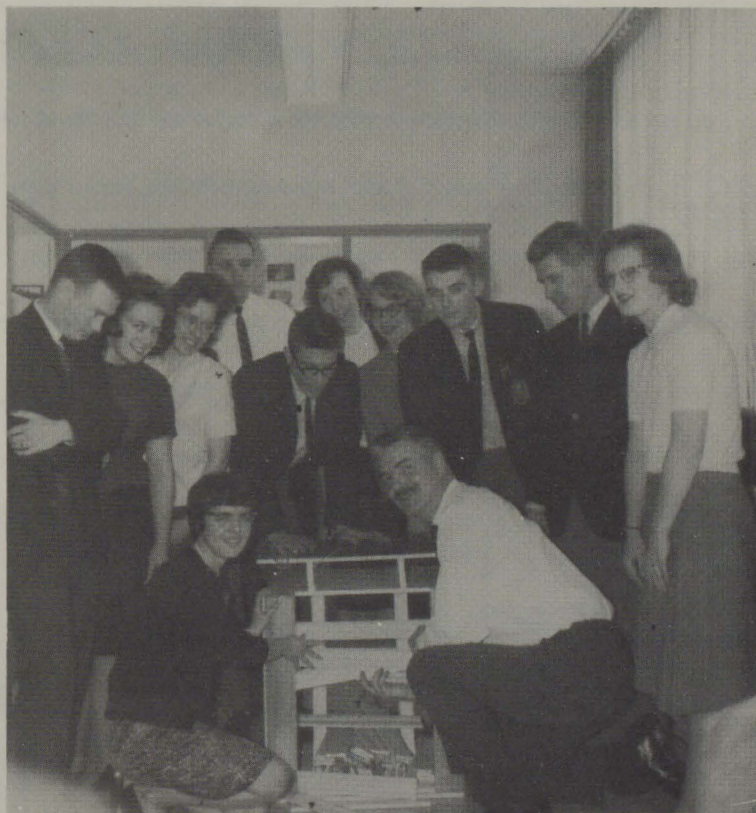

MATHEMATICS

Mr. Broad, our master in Mathematics, also heads the Mathematics Interest Group. This group meets informally and discusses the problems of the students in teaching arithmetic. Mr. Broad answers our questions with many useful suggestions. Through this group I am sure we have gained a deeper insight in understanding and teaching mathematical concepts.

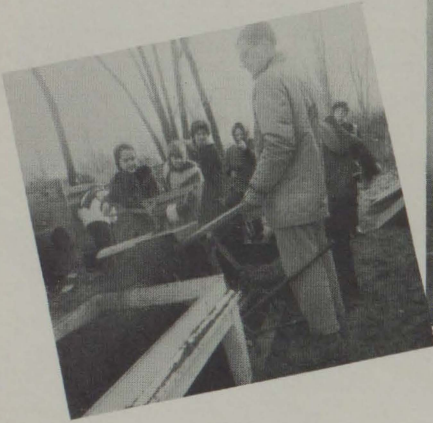

SCIENCE ACTIVITY GROUP

The Science Activity Club is a group of students under the leadership of Mr. Brown who are interested in furthering their knowledge in all fields of science. This year the group has organized and carried out field trips to the Ontario Hydro Steam Plant, The U.S. Weather Bureau Station at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport, and The Cranbrook Planetarium. These trips help the students see the actual workings of applied science in their natural surroundings. Other trips have been planned for later in the school year. The group is now in the process of building a weather station for the college which will be an aid for following classes. The group has also taken care of the school's plants which will be re-planted this season. Experiments have also been successfully planned and completed. I believe that all of the students feel that they have not only enjoyed the group activities, but have obtained considerable knowledge.

TORONTO ISLAND

At last we arrived and the little red tugboat was waiting to carry us to the island. There we were to meet the students with whom we would be spending the week. As soon as we landed on the island we unpacked and met the children. These came from two Toronto public schools and all of them were in Grade Six. Seventy-two of these youngsters were involved in the programme, the number evenly divided between boys and girls. Each student teacher was in charge of six girls and six boys from breakfast time at 7.30 until bedtime at 8.00. Together we learned how to set tables and do other chores. We ate every meal together and travelled around the island with the instructors. In the evenings each group was responsible for presenting some kind of entertainment. The children's regular teachers accompanied the classes and they were in charge of the children in their dormitories. The children in bed, the students were then allowed to watch television, play cards or ping-pong, and EAT. At the end of one enjoyable week it was all over. The children left for home and the little red tugboat was waiting for us once more.

ALBION HILLS

AN EXPERIENCE UNEQUALLED

Eastward and northward we travelled, leaving the familiar surroundings of Essex County for the strangeness of an area of Ontario some forty miles northwest of Toronto, the Albion Hills. Here, at the conservation school in the Albion Hills, we were to experience a teaching situation we never dreamed existed. Tucked away near the small town of Palgrave is an area of land, comprising about 1200 acres of farm land, forested areas, picnic grounds, and a well-stocked trout stream. This was our classroom for a week.

Upon our arrival we were introduced to the principal, Mr. Malcolmson, and his assistant, Mr. Carr. Our curiosity as to the nature of the school's facilities and our duties were quickly satisfied. The school building itself contained a laboratory, dormitories, common room, and cafeteria. The students from the Toronto area that were to arrive would be broken down into four groups, and, though we were not responsible for actually teaching them, we would be responsible for recapitulating each day's lessons. Coupled to this was the somewhat awesome responsibility of sharing with the class' teacher, Mr. Royal, the care of the entire school and the students at night. This last duty gave us an initial feeling of uneasiness.

Students attending the school were selected from the intermediate grades of Toronto's schools. We realized that we might have any grade from seven to ten. As it turned out, we soon found ourselves part of the welcoming committee for grade ten students whose ages ran from sixteen to nineteen.

At this point anyone reading our report would wonder if the educational ogre, "discipline", plagued the work we did. Actually, we had no problem of any consequence; the rapport that developed was good. Some of us now feel that it was really remarkable! The students were co-operative, very interested, and learned a great deal through the field trips and excursions they had. Possibly the greatest boon to our discipline was the fact that we, as student teachers, were learning right along with our "pupils" and enjoying every minute of it.

But what, really, were we involved in? Space demands that we limit any explanation to but a thumbnail sketch. All of us, supervisors, student teachers, and students took a daily excursion, staying out until four o'clock in the afternoon. And most of this time was spent walking! We observed farm operations, an arboretum, reforestation processes, and plant and animal life in its natural habitat. Our major excursion was a 150 mile bus trip during which we learned about techniques of flood control, climaxed by a tour through a fish hatchery where we observed the process of hatching fish and learned about the methods of re-stocking spent streams with new fish life.

All good things do eventually come to an end and certainly our experience in the Albion Hills had to do the same; when the end came it was a sad one for all of us. Letters we received are good indicators of the nostalgia of our "charges" and can do a better job of communication than we can. Here are some excerpts we selected from the quantity of mail we received.

"I can't help remembering all the fun we had. How we all sat around the fireplace, singing to our hearts content."

"I will never forget that week at the Conservation School and you all."

"We wished we could go back to the Conservation school again."

Thank you, Mr. Brown, for giving us this wonderful opportunity.

SPORTS

The sports activity for the women centred around volleyball and basketball, with a very active intramural volleyball schedule being launched in October. The finals were played the week of December 9th, and the new champions, Form 6, emerged victorious. The intramural basketball program commenced immediately after the New Year, and the finals were scheduled for the week of April 19th. These games were played during the lunch hour on the Tuesday and Thursday of the week, with two referees officiating at each contest. Occasionally on Friday, the gymnasium marked the spot for badminton matches, which were enjoyed thoroughly.

The Windsor Teachers' College may take great pride in their women's volleyball team, which scored two decisive victories over the London Teachers' College. Under the able coaching of Miss Buck, the first match was won by a score of 15-8, 15-6. The second encounter occurred in Windsor against a much improved London team, and this time London was closely edged out 15-8, 13-15, 15-7. Congratulations are in store for Miss Buck and the women's volleyball squad.

Practice for the basketball team began in January, and under the excellent direction of Miss Krauter, has shown great finesse and teamwork. This group has produced very good basketball, and scored two victories against the graduates. The whistle to end the first game saw Windsor ahead by only one point, but their second victory against the graduates was far more decisive, 48-22. Congratulations are extended also to Miss Krauter and the women's basketball team.

BOYS SPORTS

The boy's basketball team, this year as every year, gave their best at every game. In the face of overwhelming odds, the boys of W.T.C. never gave up in a game even if the score was well in favour of their opponents. From the first minute on the clock to the last, the boys of W. T. C. made every opponent work for every point they received.

Here are some of the scores of the games played by our boys.

W.T.C. 53 - Men's Public 51	W.T.C. 74 - Windsor Teachers 53
W.T.C. 64 - W.T.C. Alumni 61	W.T.C. 58 - L.T.C. 89
W.T.C. 55 - W.T.C. Alumni 61	W.T.C. 62 - Chatham 46

Thank you, Mr. Kinnin, for the splendid job of handling our great team at Windsor Teachers' College.

The boy's of our volleyball team played a great deal of games this year for the time allowed. Our biggest games however were against London Teachers' College. In the first trip, London took us in two straight sets by the scores of 15 - 13, and 15 - 8. A great effort was put out by all the team members, but this was not enough. Mr. England, our coach, gave us a second crack at London, but a repeat performance was given. We the members of the W.T.C. volleyball team would like to thank Mr. England for the time and effort he put into helping us to play the game better both as good sportmen and good athletes.

GOLF TOURNAMENT

The Windsor Teachers' College open golf tournament was played at Roseland. Rick Green was victorious over fifteen other contestants, including two women and Mr. Steeves.

We push wide the doors and stream down the aisles to the best seats. We bump each other and our books fall on the floor. Our feet get stepped on as we let someone by. The lights dim. Our feet become still. Our lips are motionless in expectation. Our eyes become fixed on the stage. Our ears strain for the rustle of the opening curtain.

We scramble for our primary opening stage position. We straighten our costumes and mumble our opening lines. Our feet scuffle and scrape as they tremble under their normal load. The lights dim. Our feet become still. Our lips cease their mumble. Our eyes brighten with excitement. Our ears strain for the rustle of the opening curtain.

Thus it is born with a dimming of the lights, a crescendo of silence, and a rustle of the opening curtain, another literary. Will it make us laugh, or cry, or will it put music into our ears? Will it be worthwhile?

An auditorium programme must do far more than entertain to meet set requirements. It must give each person an opportunity at some form of creativity. It must also give each person an insight, however brief, into the performing arts. It must be of a creative educational nature.

These are things it must do, but it will do even more. It will bind a class of almost perfect strangers into one perfect unit. It will instill a spirit of friendship and co-operation unattainable in any other way. As the class pulls together and grows stronger because of it, so each individual also grows.

The final sway of the curtain may put an end to the entertainment. The friendship and co-operation developed will never end, for in this day and age the things permanent are not those we carry in our hands but those we carry in our hearts.

The Auditorium Committee can only rate an auditorium programme on its entertainment and educational merits. It does this objectively and to the very best of its ability. In so doing, the Committee expresses the wish that each person in every class will judge their own auditorium programme on its more permanent values.

AUDIO-VISUAL

Top Row: D. Reaume, P. Gieswien, R. Howard, D. Braithwaite
Third Row: M. Wilton, J. Trofin, J. Laforet
Second Row: J. Christmas, D. Horton, B. Mitchell
First Row: Mr. Toll, L. Mayhew, J. Arrand

The Audio-Visual Committee consists of members appointed from Forms 1 to 13. The Executive is made up as follows:

President - David Braithwaite
Vice President - James Trofin
Secretary-Treasurer - Peter Gieswein
Counsellor - Mr. F.S. Toll

At the beginning of the year a training programme was undertaken to train the new A.V. crew. Under the direction of Mr. Toll, assisted by D. Braithwaite, J. Trofin and R. Howard, the members quickly gained proficiency in the operation of many items of audio-visual equipment.

Some of the duties of the A.V. crew are not always observable. For example, many people do not realize that the A.V. crew is operational at each assembly, controlling the backstage lighting system, sound system, stage effects and special requirements. Other members are busy in the projection room operating the slide projector for the morning hymn, movie projector, film strip projector or special spot-light effects.

Strange things are stored in Room 211. This is the "inner sanctum" of the A.V. crew. Here are located the many items of equipment which are serviced regularly by the crew.

Most frequently the crew members may be seen assisting a master with A.V. equipment in the normal classroom routine, or plodding resolutely along the hall, a projector in one hand, screen in the other, extension cord slung around the neck and screw-driver gripped firmly between the teeth.

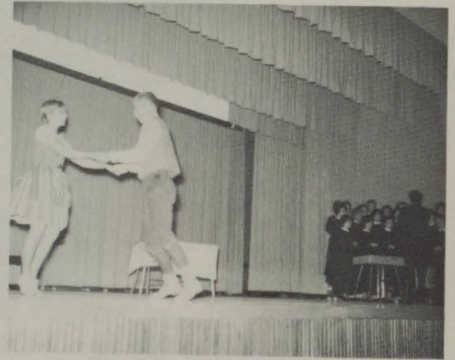

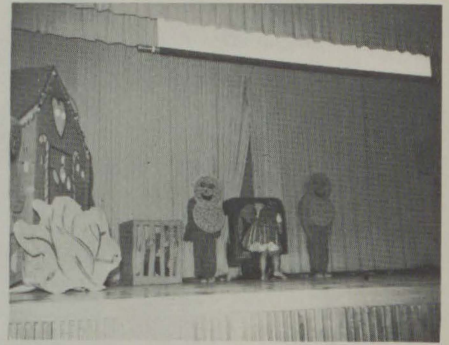

Thus you can see the necessity of this group and the vital part it plays in the smooth functioning of College routine.

HANSEL AND GRETEL

FORM 12 LITERARY

The purpose of this presentation was to give some idea as to what can be done in auditorium work with grade school children. We sincerely hope that you have benefitted from this.

NEGRO REVOLT

FORM 13 LITERARY

In presenting this production, we hoped to impress upon you the struggles of the Negroes from the time of the early plantations to the present day.

SNOW WHITE AND SEVEN DWARFS

FORM II LITERARY

Form II, after two months of back-breaking rehearsal, was proud to present their production of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs". Our special thanks are given to our directors, Miss Bruce and Mr. Braithwaite, and our form counsellor, Mr. Kinnin.

WORDS AND MUSIC

FORM I LITERARY

This is a story of the efforts of a judge to sway a prejudiced jury on behalf of the defence. Judge Priest employs the musical talents of a Negro to revive the spirit of the Civil War veterans with their marching song.

TRIBUTE TO ROGERS AND HAMMERSTEIN

FORM 2 LITERARY

Form Two presented a musical which consisted of well-known songs of Rodgers and Hammerstein. It began in a pioneer setting with the whole class singing "Oklahoma". Other songs included, "Getting To Know You, Wash That Man Right Outa My Hair, This Nearly Was Mine, and When You Walk Thru A Storm". We hope that this was a fitting tribute to the magnificence of these composers.

A STUDY IN PANTOMIME

FORM 3 LITERARY

"A Study in Pantomime", directed by Roy James, was a fine attempt at an original production. The theme and the entire script were the result of class effort. Sound and scenery were non-existent even to "Thank you, Mr. Elliot." It was very well accepted by the staff and student body - a definite success. The presentation was in five parts: Charley Chaplin (Leah Gignac) in "My Hero"; the Poor Soul (Frank Horvath) in "The Telephone Booth"; "The Picnic" (L. Jones and P. Janisse); "Spring Fever", a touch of comedy; the performance concluded on a sombre, mysterious note with Marcel Marceau (Roy James and Eric Kruger) in "Duel in the Darkness".

OUR TRIP TO THE ART GALLERY

FORM FIVE LITERARY

FORM FOUR LITERARY

Form Four took the school on a special student tour through an art gallery -- Gallery 4. The various portraits were presented in their chronological order so that a general survey of the history of art was presented:-- Primitive Cave Painting; Egyptian; Renaissance Art: Mona Lisa, Moses; Rembrandt, Blue Boy and Mondrian.

THE SOUND OF MUSIC

The nuns consider one of their novices, Maria, too fun-loving for convent life so they find her a position as nursemaid to the children of widowed Captain Von Trapp. This gay musical ends on a happy note with the wedding of Maria to the Captain.

TALE OF TWO CITIES

FORM 6 LITERARY

In an effort to bring the period of the "French Revolution" to life for a short time Form Six presented as the last literary of the school year, "A Tale of Two Cities". We enjoyed our attempt at doing a serious, well-known novel.

Under the guidance of Mr. Fritz and Mrs. Foster we opened our first meeting with the election of officers. Tim Blackburn was elected the chairman; Maureen Westfall, the secretary; and Jack Russell, the treasurer. Our rules were decided upon and the social calendar was printed.

On Friday, November 1, our first event, a Halloween Dance was sponsored by Form six. It was followed by the Sadie Hawkins Square Dance on Thursday, November 28 and was under the direction of Form four. Being a ladies' choice, this event was well attended. The following activity, Parents' Night held Friday December 13, was a combined Student Council and Social Committee effort which proved quite successful.

The next two events, a New Year's Dance on January 10 and a Valentine's Sweetheart Swirl held on February 21, were both semi-formal and were put on by Forms two and one respectively.

Thursday, March 19 marked a Variety Night sponsored by Form three followed by a combination Hay Ride-Weiner Roast put on by Form five, April 17. The biggest event of the year was the Graduation Ball on May 15 sponsored by all 2-1 forms.

As well as having a successful group of social events we have set up a Dance Interest Group held in the Interest group period under the supervision of Emile Lahoud.

FROM THE EDITOR

Robert Cayea

Another year has elapsed, and another "Magister" has gone to press. Our greatest worry was the final deadline which we thought would never come. After hours and hours of slow tedious work, the "Magister" began to take the shape of a yearbook. All school activities were represented in accordance with the time in which our final deadline was to be met.

All members of the Yearbook Committee worked diligently in preparing for you a pleasant, permanent record of your school year at Windsor Teachers College. At this time, I would like to thank the yearbook staff for their undying time and effort put in to make this year one to remember.

I wish to extend a special thanks to Mrs. Hewitt, Mr. Lennon, Mr. Laforet and Mr. England who gave both valuable time and helpful advice. Without their help, "Magister" could not have been completed. I would also wish to thank Mr. Devereux for his assistance in our task.

To all the related interest groups of Windsor Teachers College, the students and the staff, we of the "Magister 64" say "Thank-you".

Editor-In-Chief.
